

The Loyola Admin. Perinatal Center Presents:

The Spectrum of HTN in Pregnancy: Mild Disease to Emergency

Virtual on Teams

Oct. 28, 2026, 1030a-12p 1.75 CE

Kathryn A. Patton, MD, MPH

Dr. Patton is in her Loyola Maternal Fetal Medicine Fellowship following her Loyola OB Gyne Residency. She received her medical degree at Vermont University, MPH at Dartmouth and undergrad at Clemson University. We appreciate her interest in medical and patient education and quality improvement.

Topics:

- Incidence, social determinants of health, prevention, diagnosis and treatment
- Pathophysiology and maternal-fetal impact
- HTN emergencies; warning signs, treatment and prevention of stroke and death
- Clinical scenarios
- New research

REGISTRATION open to Oct 21, FREE:

Scan QR Code or Click website Link: <https://www.loyolamedicine.org/APC>

Open education tab for class registration. Teams link will be emailed to you.

Questions- Contact stephanie.loiacono@luhs.org

Loyola University Health System is accredited as a provider of nursing continuing professional development by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation. No one with the ability to control content of this activity has a relevant financial relationship with an ineligible company.